Order Picker License Langley

Order Picker License Langley - Order preparation operation or order picking as it is more normally known is a process used in warehouse operations and consists of personnel known as order pickers. The order picker's task is to collect and take articles in certain quantities in order to complete the customer's orders before shipment. Order picking is a basic warehousing method. The efficiency in which this particular job is completed could be directly linked to the productivity of a supply chain. Hence, order picking is one of the most controlled logistic processes. Order picking falls within the category of the warehouse management system.

There are several particular types of order picking. The main types include: wave picking method, pick to box method, piece picking or picker to part method, sorting systems method and zone picking method.

The pick to box method consists of the order picker just filling the boxes with things that are from their particular station. The box then moves on to other locations to until the order is complete. In this technique, there is no movement of the order picker workers. In the wave picking method, the order pickers move round so as to gather the required things for some orders. The picker to part method or piece picking is similar where the order picker or pickers move to gather the stuff required but for one order only.

In the sorting systems method, there is no movement of the order picking personnel. Instead, the stuff are delivered to him or her via an automated system like for instance a conveyor system or an automatic storage. In the zone picking method, each and every order picker is assigned to one specific area. They are responsible for only realizing order picking in this specific zone.